RE: Vaccinating pregnant teenagers against SARS CoV 2 infection

This has reference to the decision on the above, taken at the meeting of the Advisory Committee on Communicable Diseases conducted on 12th November 2021.

Taken into consideration the higher risk of pregnant teenagers, the Advisory Committee on Communicable Diseases decided to administer two doses of the Pfizer vaccine, one month apart, for pregnant teenagers aged 16-19 years.

As such please instruct relevant staff under your supervision to make available this service to those in the above category of pregnant teenagers in your area.
